Osgar und Adolf Listen to Mr. Hearst

DEY GIFE HIM AN AUDIENCE AFDER TRACKING DER INDISPENSARY BARTY TO IDS LAIR, UND GET SOME EPITAPHS—BEG PARDON; EPIGRAMS—UNLOADET UPON DEM.

He Proceeded to Read Hiss Memorizable Keynote Spooch to Us in Sooding Sirup Tones vich Lured Adolf to Slumber.

Speckial Despootch from Osgar to Fred Schaefer.

Neu York, August 22, Neu York.—Me und Adolf haf pulled off der greatest chournalistig beat efer yet. We haf discofered der endire Nadional Indispensary party.

Der answer—William R. Hearst!

Somepody tried to steer us off on a fulse glue to Thomas L. Hisgen, but we wass wischelmers und decidet dot Hisgen wass but a alias for Hearst.

We fount der eminence editor in his sanctimonial surroundot by back numbers of vich he wass making a perusing to see how biss pabers stoot on der protzidencial issues. Dinking we wass refugees from der coming sublemend, he greetet us like brudders.

"We voult luff to inquisitive you, blease," I debatet. "Why iss id you came back from Europe to your confention, instead of doing your steam rolling by der long distance?"

"I guess epigrams iss cheaper as cablegrams. Ha, ha, ha!" it wass der fat voice of Adolf vich vedged idself in.

"Oh, did you notice my epigrams?" tittered Mr. Hearst. "Dear me, I was so flustered when I made my speech, I almost forgot my lines. But some of the things I said were heavenly, don't you think?"

We tolt him yess, we dit nod dink.

"Do you belief der new barty vill segure plenty of subbort?" wass der next conundrum.

"Yes, indeed," a look of pain leafing his face. "I am going to support it if it breaks me."

Der remainder of der dialogue wass a monologue. Der Indispensary barty proceedet to read hiss memorizable keynote speech in sooding sirup tones vich lured Adolf to slumber, leafing me der sole sufferer. Here iss some of der choicest epigrams exhumed by Mr. Hearst:

"The old parties of today are on the toboggan. Unfortunately, they seem to be nailed to it."

"The Republican party is the hand maiden of the trust—the manicure girl, as it were, of the octopus."

"The Democratic party is a sordid imitator of its sister—that is, in everything except electing presidents."

"The Democratic vanguard is a Falestaff's army.

"It is led by a knight in motley. When not in motley he is in Lincoln, Neb."

"It's banner bears on one side a chatelaine watchword for the people, and on teh other a grandather's clock-word for the trusts."

"The Republican platform say snothing. It is like John D. Rockefeller on the witness stand. The Democratic platform contains some good and original things, but the good things are not in the original packages, and the original things are good and scarce."

"It is the habitation of a hermit crab, and that kind of a crab is always shellfish."

"Bryan has killed the fatted calf, but he still has my goat."

"Dot listens like a fate of nadure," I expostulatet.

"Thank you for your kind ovation," he answered, bowing. "I'd like to have you join our little party."

"Sure," said Adolf, raking up suddencely, like a cuckoo clock. "Who's going to buy?"

(Next week Osgar und Adolf sit in with the Prohibition nominee.)

The men were brought secretly to Chicago after the statement had been given out as a "blind" in Detroit that they were wanted for a safe blowing "job" in Toledo. When they reached Chicago, Burns wired Los Angeles and Los Angeles officers armed with requisitions secretly issued, came to Chicago. They left with the men for Los Angeles tonight. Neither of the prisoners was allowed to make a statement of any kind.
